ADMINISTRATION BUILDING BONDS

Provided For in House Bill--Senate Will Probably Concur.

Have Passed Measure Designed to Promote Road Building—Bills Favorably and Unfavorably Reported—Representative Dillard Has New Bill.

Raleigh, Feb. 28.—The House today passed on final reading the bill to appoint a building commission and issue $250,000 worth of bonds for the erection of an administration building and sent it to the Senate for concurrence in the House amendment. The bill as originally offered in the Senate provided for a $1,000,000 bond issue and the Senate cut this to $500,000. The House then divided the amount by two and it goes back to the Senate. The Senate will no doubt concur in the House amendment.

To Promote Road Building.

The House also passed the bill to promote road building in the several counties of the State, by having the State issue four per cent 41 year bonds and give them to the counties for 5 per cent bonds, the funds to be expended by the counties for road building. Mr. Spainhour opposed this bill and it was advocated by Carr, of Durham; Koonce, Turlington and others. The vote was 80 to 17. The bill was ordered engrossed and sent to the Senate.

Bills Unfavorably Reported.

The appropriations committee returned a number of bills to the House with unfavorable report which means that they will not be considered on the floor at all. They included: Provide antitoxin free for all citizens of the State; provide for paving sidewalks about the governor's mansion square; promote higher education of the blind; transfer Pickford sanitarium to the State; erect monument to the women of the Confederacy; establish legislative reference librarian; educate negroes on the subject of tuberculosis.

Bills Reported Favorably.

This committee reported favorably bills to provide an additional building at the Soldier's home; increase salary of the adjutant-general; increase salary of the commissioner of labor and printing and his assistant; increase the salary of the State librarian; increase the appropriation to the State militia.

There were a great number of favorable reports from committees on other bills. These included: Increase pay of pension clerks in the State auditor's office from $900 to $1,000; authorize issuance of bonds by special tax districts for school improvement; allow Cumberland to vote on good roads bonds; allow Gastonia to issue $70,000 bonds for improvements; allow Lee county to issue bonds for debt and improvements; allow a township in Harnett county to vote on railroad construction bonds; prohibit dynamiting fish in any North Carolina streams; amend the general drainage law of 1909; amend the revisal as to the appointment of guardians; amend revisal relative to foreign executors' bonds; amend the law relative to salting and packing fish.

New Bills.

McGill: Joint resolution for a legislative commission to investigate and report to the next General Assembly as to the number of dependent widows of Confederate soldiers in North Carolina. The rules were suspended and this resolution passed and sent to the Senate.

Dillard, of Guilford: Relative to establishment of a training school for negroes.

DIED ON TRAIN.

Mrs. Hardin Truitt, of Mt. Airy, while en route to Greensboro Sunday to visit her daughter, was stricken with heart failure on the train and died before a physician could be reached. Mrs. Truitt was about 60 years old and had been visiting relatives at Germanton. When she left there Sunday she was enjoying excellent health. The body was prepared for burial in Greensboro and sent to Mt. Airy Monday afternoon, where the interment took place.—Winston Sentinel.

Mrs. Rawley Galloway, of Reidsville, spent yesterday in the city with friends.

BUILDING INCREASES

Permits For February Show Gratifying Increase Over Previous Month.

During the month of February fourteen building permits were issued for new buildings and improvements on old ones by Building Inspector Milton. The aggregate cost of the new buildings and improvements was $43,750. In addition to the permits for buildings inside the city a number of buildings were erected just outside the corporate limits. In January the aggregate cost of new buildings and improvements inside the city limits was $35,600.

WOODMEN OF WHITE OAK MILL TO MAKE A LIVE CANVASS

White Oak Camp, No. 304, Woodmen of the World, held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting last night in the camp ground, over the White Oak store. It was decided to institute an active membership campaign and from the expressions heard there will no doubt be a good sized log rolling in the near future. After rousing speeches by various members refreshments were served.

The camp meets every Tuesday night and all members of the order living in Greensboro are cordially invited to go out and enjoy the hospitality of the White Oak Woodmen.

PREPARING FOR THE CIVIC PARADE

In response to a suggestion from the civic department that business men offer prizes for the prettiest decorations in the civic parade on March 10, Meyer's department store and Wills book store very promptly asked to be placed on the list of those who desired to assist in this way.

The prizes so far offered, are as follows:

One prize of $5 in gold, by King & Kimball for the prettiest decoration of child's turnout.

One prize, $5 in gold, by Meyer's department store, for prettiest decoration of large carriage or vehicle of any sort.

One Spalding baseball glove, value $2.50, for the prettiest decorated bicycle.

The desire of the civic department is to have as many decorated turnouts in the parade as can be mustered, and it is hoped that all who have carriages will enter the contest.

Members of the Junior Civic League and members of the civic department will use the club colors—purple and white—in these decorations. Those not members can use any colors that may suggest themselves.

Members of the Junior League are urged not to forget the meeting this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in the Smith Memorial building. Among other important things to be done an attempt will be made to get a groop picture of the juniors, to be used, along with other Greensboro views, in Mr. McFarland's steropticon entertainment at the opera house on National Civic day, March 10. There will also be an election of officers and a reorganization of the Junior Civic League.

Sword Found In Old House.

While the old Detmering residence in the rear of Rev. Melton Clark's residence on Davie street was being removed yesterday an old-fashioned sword was found concealed about the chimney, the weapon evidently being several hundred years old. Rev. Mr. Clark has purchased the lot on which the old house stood and the building is being removed to a lot on Mebane street by Mr. Detmering.

MEETING AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

There will be an important meeting of the members of the First Baptist church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Every member is urged to attend.

FRANK DOYLE HAS ARRIVED

Greensboro Baseball Manager Getting Down to Work.

Frank Doyle, wife and child, of Greenfield, O., arrived in the city last night and are stopping at the Clegg hotel. Mr. Doyle has been signed by President L. J. Brandt to manage the local baseball team this season.

Mr. Doyle was seen by a Telegram man last night. He is a husky looking young fellow, 27 years of age. He weighs 150 pounds and is of solid build; has a keen and penetrating eye and appears to be well qualified to judge a players' qualifications after seeing him deport himself on the diamond.

Mr. Doyle stated that he had not yet seen Mr. Brandt and therefore did not know any of the plans for the season. These would be discussed today, the new manager said. However, he said that he had signed two promising young players—Catcher Lynn Ware, of Greenfield, O., and Shortstop Lawrence Corwin, of Leasbury, O. Both have made good on independent teams and Mr. Doyle is of the opinion that they will be able to "deliver the goods" as professionals. He brought with him to Greensboro signed contracts from Rickard, Clapp and Wallace, three old players, while a contract has been forwarded to Bentley and Doak, both of whom will probably sign up. Eldridge signed with Mr. Brandt.

The players will begin reporting the latter part of March and with a few days' practice will be ready to meet the New York Nationals here on April 3.

FIRST BRICK LAID IN WALLS OF Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

The contractors are making satisfactory progress on the Young Men's Christian Association building and if the good weather continues the walls will soon be above the ground. The building will be completed as early as possible. The trenches for building the cement walls of the swimming pool have been built. The first brick in the foundation was laid yesterday. J. J. Stone, chairman of the building committee, placed the first brick.

ANNUAL MEETING OF GATE CITY STOCKHOLDERS.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Gate City Building & Loan Association was held yesterday afternoon at the association offices, 105 East Market street. The annual report of the secretary-treasurer and the report of the auditing committee showed a good year's work and the association to be growing and in a prosperous condition.

The old officers and directors were re-elected, as follows:

W. G. Balsley, president.

J. S. Michaux, vice president.

T. J. Murphy, secretary-treasurer and attorney.

Directors—W. G. Balsley, J. S. Michaux, T. J. Murphy, Dr. W. P. Beall, C. H. Ireland, R. M. Reece, J. S. Michaux, G. H. Royster, A. H. Alderman, R. C. Bernau, L. J. Brandt, A. A. Fisher, R. C. Hood.

WORK PROGRESSING ON HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

The contractors, the Central Carolina Construction Company, are making fine progress on the new Central high school building on South Spring street and the walls are already rising above the ground. The building will be completed in time for occupancy when the fall term begins.

Small Fire In Negro House.

An alarm from box 25, corner East Market and Clinton streets, yesterday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock called the firemen to a house on Clinton street. A bed in a negro house had caught on fire, the blaze being extinguished by the time the firemen arrived. There was no damage of consequence.

H. S. Gunn Will Have Cottage Erected.

A permit was issued yesterday to H. S. Gunn for a $700 cottage on Birch street.

GOULD OFFERS TO GIVE $5,000

Wants to Help County Build Pike to His Place.

George Gould, who owns a large hunting preserve, known as Fairfield, near High Point, has asked the county commissioners to macadamize the road leading from High Point by his preserve into Randolph county, offering to donate the sum of $5,000 towards the cost of the work. The work will cost something like $11,000 and only $6,000 would have to be paid by the county. Mr. Gould's proposition is under consideration and the commissioners will probably take action at the regular meeting next Tuesday.

THE GRIST OF SUPERIOR COURT JUSTICE MILL

Claude Gilmer, colored, was arraigned on the charge of murder yesterday afternoon in Guilford Superior court. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. The case was set for Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock and a special venire of fifty men were ordered summoned to select the jury from. Maj. Chas. M. Stedman and Clifford Frazier represent the defendant, while O. L. Sapp will assist Solicitor Gattis in the prosecution.

Gilmer is the negro who shot and killed Connie Garrett about two weeks ago, the killing occurring while Gilmer was full of "blind tiger" liquor. After the killing he declared that he knew nothing of the occurrence.

Appeal Will Be Taken In Mad Dog Case.

R. F. Rice was arraigned on the charge of keeping a dog believed to be mad. The case was hard fought, Stedman & Cooke assisting Solicitor Gattis, while Col. J. A. Barringer represented the defendant. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Daniels imposed a fine of $40 and costs and the defendant gave notice of appeal. A number of witnesses were placed on the stand to testify regarding the alleged mad dog.

Coble Charged With Having Too Many Wives.

Isaac S. Coble was found guilty of bigamy, Judge Daniels reserving his decision until today. Coble is the Pomona man who was arrested several weeks ago. It developed at the preliminary hearing some weeks ago that he had been married four times. Coble, while on the stand, testified that he thought three of his wives were dead, but as it developed that only two had passed into the beyond he was not certain whether any of the four were dead.

Other Cases Heard.

S. N. Rodenhizer was found guilty of larceny and sentenced to six months on the roads.

In the case against J. F. Bain, of High Point, who was charged with resisting an officer, a nol. pros. was taken.

WESTERN UNION'S DAY LETTER SERVICE.

The Western Union Telegraph Company announces today the beginning of a day letter service, a service similar to the night letter service which was inaugurated some time ago by the telegraph companies. The rate for day letters of fifty words or less is one and one-half times the rate for night letters; and for each additional ten words the charge is one-fifth of the initial rate. Day letters may be filed at any time and will be transmitted as the facilities of the company permit during business hours. Day letters will be accepted at all Western Union offices and transmitted to any of its offices in the United States.

Record At St. Leo's For February.

During the month of February 65 patients were received at St. Leo's hospital, 13 being charity patients. Fifty-four were discharged as cured, there being on hand at present 56. All are reported as doing well.

Services At Holy Trinity.

Services will be held at Holy Trinity today—Ash Wednesday—at 11 a. m. and 5 p. m. Other services for the Lenten season will be announced later.

FEW DRUNKS IN FEBRUARY

Only Ten Arraigned in Municipal Court on This Charge Last Month.

During the month of February fifty-nine warrants were issued by Judge N. L. Eure, of the Municipal court. Of this number only ten were for persons who were drunk, drunk and down, or drunk and disorderly. The majority of the warrants were for parties charged with assault, affray and vagrancy. The report shows a striking comparison with the report of the Danville, Va., chief of police for the month of February. In the Virginia city there were no less than 104 arrests for drunkenness alone.

STIRRING MEETINGS TO CONTINUE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Four persons were received into the church at the close of last night's service at the Christian church and there were five professions of conversion. The pastor, Rev. L. E. Smith, preached a stirring sermon before an audience that crowded the church auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Butler sang several solos and Mr. Butler directed the song service which preceded the sermon. The congregation entered heartily into the singing and this portion of the service was quite uplifting.

At yesterday afternoon's service there was one profession of conversion at the close of an earnest sermon by the pastor.

There will be a service this afternoon at 3 o'clock and another tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Butler will conduct a song service before the sermon. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

VAGRANT DAY WAS JUDGE EURE'S COURT SESSION

In Municipal court yesterday morning Judge Eure's attention was directed principally to vagrants, there being an unusually large number of this class of offenders on hand.

Ada Headen, Rusie Jones, Hester Searcy, Jim Stephenson and Charles Cheek were all convicted and sentenced to thirty days each, the three women going to the workhouse and the men to the roads. Rusie Jones had been up before on this charge and an additional thirty days was placed on her sentence. A case against John Young, charging vagrancy, was continued until today.

John H. Lash was convicted of an assault and sentenced to the roads for thirty days.

Ernest Caldwell and Earl Rhodes were arraigned on the charge of engaging in an affray. The former was sent to the roads for thirty days, while the case was dismissed as to Rhodes.

Cora Martin and Mary Merritt, negro women who engaged in a hair-pulling match Monday night, were found guilty and fined $1 each and costs.

W. B. Preston and Minnie Williams, the latter colored, were arraigned on the charge of unlawfully living together. The case was continued until Thursday at the request of the defendants. Preston was placed under a bond of $100, while the woman's bond was fixed at $50.

Jim Craig was charged with disorderly conduct, the warrant being withdrawn on the agreement of the defendant to pay the costs.

E. J. Jordan of Proximity Buried At Durham.

E. J. Jordan died Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his home, 19 Peach street, Proximity, following an illness of several weeks. He was 61 years of age. The funeral was held from the residence yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by Rev. K. C. Korner. The remains were taken to Durham on the afternoon train for interment in that city.

HOBGOOD'S PRIMARY BILL

The Subject of Lengthy Senate Debate Yesterday.

Guilford Senator's Anti-Trust Bill Before Judiciary Committee Today—What Is Population of Hot Springs?—David Schenck and Joseph M. Morehead Honored.

Raleigh, Feb. 28.—The Senate this morning took up Senator Hobgood's bill providing for a state-wide primary, in which the candidates of all political parties in the State shall be chosen, this measure being a special order. Senator Brown attempted to have the Senate go into a committee of the whole to consider the revenue bill, but failed. The primary bill was debated for two hours when a recess was taken without action on the bill.

Senator Hobgood made an earnest, exhaustive argument for the bill, expressing the firm belief that such a measure would prove the means of party purity and protect the political parties from the participation in primaries of men who are without conviction or character, thus allowing the people to say who should occupy the offices. He was willing to trust the people's fidelit yand patriotism.

Senator Sikes advocated the bill in a brief speech, while Senator Pharr stated that the Democratic convention had not declared for a primary law and he was not willing for this law to be passed when the conventions have not asked for it, but he believed the question should first be presented to the convention to secure its endorsement. He would vote for a primary law for any particular county, but thought it would be very unwise to pass such a law for the entire state.

Senator Gardner championed the bill, declaring that the people of the state are demanding a more effective and efficient method of selecting their party candidates and that they are tired of the obsolete and centralized custom of conventions and disjointed primaries. He believed the tendency of the whole nation is towards direct primaries, giving the people the right to select their favorites by popular vote, free from the pernicious and dangerous influences of machines, bosses and rings, such as control the Republican party in this State, he asserted. A State-wide primary for both parties would mean a purification of politics and result in bringing the people nearer their public servants and the public servants more responsive to the will of the people. He would not be willing to eliminate the Republican party from the provisions of the bill, which Senator Hobgood stated was patterned after the Oregon law. Senator Haymore contended that it was simply the Australian ballot system.

The debate continued with increasing interest, Senator Long strongly opposing the bill. Senator Starbuck, the Republican leader of the Senate, also opposed the bill, saying the Legislature cannot afford to pass such a law. He favored a primary to correct existing abuses, but was against this particular bill, which he thought could be amended to meet the needs. Senators Barnes, Hicks and Ivie made speeches for the bill and others engaging in the debate were Senators Kitchin, Brown, Hobgood and Pharr.

Anti-Trust Bills.

Senator Baggett's anti-trust bill, said to be an exact pattern of the Texas anti-trust law, gets an unfavorable report from the Senate judiciary committee. Senator Hobgood's anti-trust bill will be considered by this committee Wednesday afternoon, Senator Bassett asking for time to read and digest it.

Bill For Expense Money.

The bill to pay annually $3,500 for expenses of the State board of internal improvements in looking after the State's interest in various properties and the State institutions received a favorable report from the Senate judiciary committee.

MISS ELKINS SMILING.

She and "Billy" Hitt Seen Much Together in New York.

New York World.

A revival of the report of an engagement between Miss Katharine Elkins, daughter of the late Senator Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, and William F. R. Hitt, son of Robert R. Hitt, who was a representative from Illinois, has followed a visit paid to New York this week by Miss Elkins with Mrs. Hitt and her son.

The party registered at the St. Regis Sunday evening. They remained until Wednesday night, when they returned to Washington. In the three days they remained here Miss Elkins and "Billy" Hitt, as he has been known for years at the capital, were close companions.

Miss Elkins did a good deal of shopping, and wherever she went "Billy" went too. The rest of her time was spent in the suite she occupied with Mrs. Hitt.

Gossip came back in every instance to the fact that Miss Elkins wore only one ring upon her left hand, and that was on the third finger. The stone was a beautiful one.

One friend, indeed, asked Miss Elkins if the ring did not have the significance its place would suggest. Miss Elkins laughed the question aside, but with heightened color, it is said, and when another question of the same import was put to Mr. Hitt it is said he replied that an answer "would have to come later."

Mr. Hitt, who spends much of his time in New York, is 30 years old, and was graduated from Yale in 1901. He inherited a fortune from his father and is a social leader of the younger folk in the capital. His fondness for society, for which Miss Elkins has always shown indifference, is the one point upon which they are not in perfect accord. Both are fond of horses and both are devotees of golf.

This is what Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ledbetter said on January 22:

"Gentlemen: Last night our daughter, age five years, was taken suddenly with pneumonia. We used 1-2 box of Mother's Joy as directed, and today she is almost well, thanks to the good remedy so near at hand and so cheap. This was a violent case, and hope you success. 520 Laura avenue."

The President may not be conscious of it, but he has made red neckties popular. A few days ago Mr. Taft blossomed out in a crimson tie of the gayest hue. Now they are all talking red neckwear at the White Houes. The attaches, the newspaper men and the official callers are preparing to fall in line. In a few days the haberdashers will feel the effects.

It was generally thought in official circles that Champ Clark, Speaker-to-be, had a monopoly on red ties. He has been famous for years for the brilliance of his collection, and he had been jealous of his unique distinction. But the Missourian has been outdone.

Made the Rhyme.

"Carpet" rhymes with no single word, but some bold poet dared to evade the difficulty thus:

"Sweet maid of the inn, 'tis surely no sin to toast such a beautiful bar pet; believe me, my dear, your feet would appear at home on a nobleman's carpet."—London Answers.

Cynical.

"The course of true love doesn't always run smooth," sighed the young widow.

"That's right," rejoined the old bachelor. "Sometimes it ends in marriage."—Chicago News.

Many Meanings.

Traveler—Some expressions in the Chinese language have as many as forty different meanings.

Little Miss—Same way in English.

"You amaze me. Mention one."

"Not at home."

The beloved of the Almighty are the rich who have the humility of the poor and the poor who have the magnanimity of the rich.—Saadi.

The Santa Ysobel Mine

By ANDREW C. EWING

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Adrian Burge, a young New Yorker, not satisfied with the prospect ahead of him and craving a more independent life than could be achieved in the east, determined to go to the southwest and grow up with the country. But Burge soon found that while the country was growing he was standing still. He tried clerking for awhile; but, though he found it easier to obtain a position there than in the east, the salary was not much better than that paid at home, and he could not save any more money. He concluded that if he couldn't get a better living than in New York he could at least get a more independent one, so he turned himself into a cowboy.

His employer, recognizing his superiority over the common run of cowpunchers, made quite a pet of him till he found that Adrian was making up to his daughter Gertrude, then turned against him. Adrian was discharged. He did not complain. Indeed, he thought his discharge the best thing that could happen to him. What business had he to be in love? It was all he could do to put bread and butter into his own mouth without trying to feed others.

Adrian said goodby to Gertrude McGregor—it nearly broke both their hearts to part—and, mounting his horse, rode away to find some other rancher who would employ him. The country he was passing through was old Spanish territory, whose original occupants were Aztecs, they giving place to Spaniards or a mingling of Aztecs and Spaniards. The Spaniards had come to America thirsting for the precious metals and had opened up a great many gold and silver mines, some of which had paid largely, but all had eventually been abandoned, and the site of many of them had been lost.

Adrian had heard of one of these mines, the Santa Ysobel, the tradition said had been worked successfully till the early part of the nineteenth century, when the Indians in the neighborhood determined to drive out the whites and commenced a course of pillage and murder. The mouth of the Santa Ysobel was closed and concealed so that neither the Indians nor any one else except the owners could find it again. When the Indian troubles were over, whether those who had worked the Santa Ysobel mine were dead, whether they had failed to mark the entrance so that the subsequent owners could find it, certain it is that for three-quarters of a century it had been lost.

Adrian was riding along, dreaming of some day securing the papers describing these lost mines and making a search for some of them. He was a visionary fellow, much more attracted by will-o'-the-wisp schemes than solid drudgery. Like Johnny-Look-in-the-Air in the nursery tales, he was building castles when suddenly his horse went down into a hole. Adrian succeeding in extricating himself and by pulling hard on the bridle rein induced his horse to make an effort to clear the hole. It was successful, and Adrian was about to mount and ride on when he became interested to know what kind of a hole he had fallen into.

It looked to him as if the earth over a subsurface cavity had fallen away and thus formed the hole. But what kind of a cavity? The idea of a lost mine occurred to him. The only mine of which he had ever seen a description was the Santa Ysobel, and he remembered that this description located it under an orchard of quince trees. There were a few old trees near by, and upon examination they proved to be quince.

Adrian resolved to investigate the hole.

Riding to a ranch, he borrowed pick and shovel and, returning to the hole, dug deeper. It was not long before he found himself, sure enough, in the tunnel of a mine. At one end of the tunnel was a pile of silver ore. A number of tools lay about, and Adrian saw at once from their make that they were very old.

One day a wagon drawn by four mules drove up to the McGregor ranch and a young man well dressed and with a prosperous air alighted and went to the house. Gertrude saw him coming, and, although at first she doubted her perceptive faculties, she soon saw that the comer was Burge. She opened the door for him. They stood looking for a moment at each other, then flew into each other's arms.

That evening Adrian made a formal application for Gertrude's hand from her father. He told him how he had stumbled on, or, rather, into, the Santa Ysobel silver mine; how he had taken a captalist into his secret, bought the property and upon investigation had found that when it was closed up the owner had just struck a rich vein of ore. Adrian's partner had furnished him with means to go east and organize the Santa Ysobel Mining company. He had returned, and the mine was now in good working order, turning out tons of silver.

There being no longer reason to separate the lovers, McGregor gave his consent, and the three celebrated the betrothal by a visit to the mine. Gertrude looked down into the hole into which her lover had sunk and shuddered. Then she said:

"Had you passed a few feet on that side"—

"You would have never been my wife," replied Adrian.

The Greensboro Telegram

Published Daily Except Monday at 280 South Davie Street

J. T. FAIN, Editor,
H. G. BRAXTON, Business Manager.

The Telegram is entered at the Postoffice in Greensboro, North Carolina, for transmission through the mails as Second Class Matter.

TO THE PEOPLE OF GREENSBORO AND GUILFORD COUNTY.

The undersigned having purchased The Telegram, all the property of this paper, franchise, etc., it becomes our pleasant duty to make a few preliminary remarks to the people of this city and county on taking charge of the paper. These words are addressed, primarily, to the readers of the Telegram; but, in a larger sense, to the public generally, as we expect to endeavor to enlarge the circle of the paper's patrons until it embraces at least the greater portion of the population of Greensboro and Guilford county. Having accomplished that purpose we may then seek other fields to cultivate, but our first efforts will be devoted to establishing the Telegram on a solid basis among its own people.

We wish to say, first, that the reason which actuated us in coming to Greensboro to engage in newspaper publishing was the fact that we are not only pleased with the present city but have faith in the future of the place. Greensboro's record as a live and growing city, its established and flourishing business, commercial and industrial interests, its public utilities and public buildings, churches and schools and institutions of higher education all appeal to the man seeking a satisfactory place of residence as well as a city in which to engage in business with the prospect of attaining success. When there is added to what Greensboro already has the certainty that the city will continue to grow and to develop along the best lines of modern progress, it is evident that this place has a pulling power which is wonderfully effective in attracting progressive and aggressive citizens. Such is, we believe, the record of this city's remarkable history during the past two decades; and our coming to Greensboro is largely to be attributed to the magnetic power which has brought so many citizens here in the years since Greensboro began its career of upward progress. Being newspaper men and not caring to engage in other lines of business, it was natural that we should desire to continue in that line of effort here. The result of our investigations of newspaper conditions here has been the purchase of the Telegram, of which we take charge with this issue and which, we trust, it will be our privilege to conduct indefinitely with satisfaction to the public and to ourselves.

As we realize that the public expects the new owners of the Telegram to say something by way of introduction and in outlining the future policy of the paper, we will briefly state some of our views as to newspaper making and mention a few rules of conduct which the public may rest assured will be rigidly adhered to in our management of the Telegram. We will make but few promises as to the future of the Telegram, but expect to fulfill the promises made and endeavor to do even more than is promised in the handling of this property. It is our intention to greatly improve the paper, as we become familiar with conditions, secure a grasp on affairs in this section and in the State and develop the business to sustain the contemplated improvements. The equipment of the Telegram will be greatly improved as soon as the necessary machinery and material can be installed, and the typographical appearance of the paper will thereby be greatly improved. With this extension of facilities for publishing a paper will come an improved local news service and the addition of a first class telegraphic general news service. With an enlarged paper, typographically as good as the best newspapers of the country, and with a local and general news service ample for all the demands of a city of this size, we feel we will be better able to serve and to satisfy the public than the Telegram has ever been in the past. In view of these facts and the splendid circulation and reputation at present enjoyed by the paper, we see no reason why it should not attain in a few years to a rank which will entitle it to one of the foremost places among North Carolina newspapers. It will be our aim and constant effort to advance the interests of the paper with this object in view, and with the liberal support of the business men and people of Greensboro and Guilford county we confidently hope to attain the end sought.

In regard to the policy of the Telegram we will say that it will continue to be a straight Democratic newspaper. The Telegram will not be a hide-bound "party organ." The sole ownership of the paper is vested in the undersigned, and we will absolutely control it in every particular. There will be no question about the ownership of the Telegram or in regard to who controls its policy and is responsible for its opinions. The paper will not be influenced by party bosses, either real or alleged; it will frankly advocate the political principles and policies its editor believes to be right and just, and this will be done without offense to any honest man whose opinions may differ from those of the Telegram but who believes in fair play and freedom of speech and action. The owners of the Telegram are life long Democrats; with faith in the justness of the time honored principles of Democracy and standing on these as the basis of their political convictions; but who realize that time has wrought wonderful changes in this State and in the nation and that the policies of a quarter or half a century ago may not be applicable to present conditions. Therefore, we do not pin our faith to the conservatism which clings to old ideas and never changes or advances, but we do believe in progressive conservatism, which fits the treatment to the conditions prevailing and to the imperative demands of the hour. We are, on the other hand, unalterably opposed to radicalism, to political fads, to political trickery and meanness; and we cordially despise demagogues and professional politicians. So much for the political views of the Telegram, very briefly outlined.

The Telegram, as long as we control it, will stand for the moral and mental uplift of the city and county and State, as well as for their material advancement. We feel that morally and mentally the people of this section occupy a plane above the average, and the above declaration is not made in the missionary spirit, with the idea that the people of the city and county are in dire need of our efforts along this line; but the statement is made in order that the public may understand that the Telegram will stand steadfastly in the community for law and for order, for good government, local and State and national; that it is the friend of our educational institutions and interests and that its sentiments coincide with the sentiments of those who frame the religious and moral ideas of the vast body of good citizens of this county and State.

Finally, we expect to publish a plain newspaper; conduct it in a strictly business-like manner; endeavor to be honest and fair in the publication of the news and in every editorial expression and spare no effort of which we are capable in laboring for the upbuilding of this city, the county and the State. We trust our efforts may meet the approval of the citizens of Greensboro and Guilford and of neighboring counties, and that the patronage extended the Telegram under our ownership will justify the changes we have in view and the improvements contemplated for the betterment of the paper. We hope to publish a newspaper which will be of material assistance to the splendid body of progressive men who are striving for a greater Greensboro and a greater Guilford county, and we will always be found ready to advocate any movement looking to this end and to labor unceasingly for the accomplishment of any purpose having as its object the development of our natural resources and the building here of a splendid city.

J. T. FAIN
H. G. BRAXTON.

MISS POWELL, VIOLINIST, DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

Tuesday Evening At West Market Church Annex Gifted Musician Appeared Before Appreciative Audience.

Last evening at the West Market church annex appeared the renowned womaan violinist, Maud Powell. The audience was not so large as it should have been for a town noted for its large coterie of music lovers, and the main reason was that another well-known artist appeared at the opera house at the same time. However, the audience at the annex was not small.

In the opening number, which was a Spanish Symphony, by Lalo, while Miss Powell was not at her best, perhaps, on account of a mistaken feeling that the people of Greensboro were not sufficiently interested in the serious and masterly efforts of an artistic violinist, she did, nevertheless, convince those present that she was not to be classed with ordinary performers. The Symphony was in three movements, the first being a weird, fantastic allegro; the next an andante, followed by a difficult, vivacious, and variagated rondo-allegro. At the conclusion of this number she was roundly applauded. The next number was a piano-violin duo, by Beethoven; in this Mr. Liachowsky, the pianist, was given an opportunity to exhibit his skill. He proved himself here, as elsewhere in the program, to be a master of the piano-forte. After this number Miss Powell rapidly came into her own. A group of violin selections followed, being a variety from Massenet, Brahms-Joachim, Schubert and Sarasate. Here Miss Powell showed her consummate skill in bowing and fingering, as well as proving her right to her laurels as a peformer possessing unusual powers of interpretation and comprehension of the most difficult and varied compositions. She has a wonderfully well developed faculty of concentration, and while playing seems so enveloped in her art as to be absolutely oblivious to her surroundings. She plays as a master performing his own compositions, and never thinks of using notes.

Miss Powell is, so far as technic and absolute mastery of the bow are concerned, without a peer.

GOVERNOR'S SPECIAL MESSAGE RELATES TO BONDS AND COTTON CLAIMS

Raleigh, Feb. 28.—Governor Kitchin sent to the Senate and the House today a special message asking that provision be made for him to appoint a board of two commissioners to go to Washington and confer with a similar board from the United States treasury department with a view to settling the claims of the United States government against the State of North Carolina for a batch of $58,000 of old North Carolina bonds purchased by the government with Indian funds and a claim of North Carolina against the Federal government for $44,000 worth of cotton that was seized and confiscated by the Federal authorities during the civil war. The contention is that the two claims with accrued interest will about offset each other. The message of the governor to the General Assembly reviews at length each of these claims and gives the correspondence that the state department of North Carolina and the treasury department of the Federal government has carried on regarding these claims.

The Legislature, in both houses referred the message to proper committees and it is understood that an act will be put in process of legislation at once to meet the suggestions of the governor.

The Origin of Pyrography.

About a century ago an artist named Cranch was standing one day in front of a fire in his home at Axminster. Over the fireplace was an oaken mantelpiece, and it occurred to Cranch that this expanse of wood might be improved by a little ornamentation. He picked up the poker, heated it red hot and began to sketch in a bold design. The result pleased him so much that he elaborated his work and began to attempt other fire pictures on panels of wood. These met with a ready sale, and Cranch soon gave all his time to his new art. This was the beginning of what is now known as pyrography.

Neglected Opportunities.

The Wizard.

"It's a remarkable thing," said old Brightboy at tea time, "but I can push my saucer through the handle of my cup."

The others glanced at the small handle and gave the speaker a withering look.

"I can," persisted Brightboy.

"Do it, then," they challenged.

Calmly taking up his spoon, Brightboy passed it through the handle of the cup and then pushed the saucer with it.

Know the Stars In the Dragon?

Winding in and out between the stars of the Great and Little Dipper is the constellation of the Dragon. The tip of the tail lies between the pole star in the Little Dipper and the pointers in the Great Dipper, but much nearer the latter and only a few degrees below the pointers. The rest of the constellation, outlined with faint stars, curves downward and around the Little Dipper, when with a final coil it terminates with the two bright stars Gamma and Beta, which mark the head of the Dragon, or, in fact, its eyes. Aratus in describing the constellations speaks of the Dragon as "with eyes oblique retorted, that askant cast gleaming fire."

Its leading star, Alpha, near the tail of the Dragon and halfway between Mizar (the middle star in the handle of the Great Dipper) and the lowest star in the bowl of the Little Dipper, is known by the name of Thuban. Four thousand years ago it was the pole star.—Mary Proctor in Chicago Tribune.

Does Your Cat Cough?

Poor pussy! As if the immemorial charges against her of keeping us awake o' nights and of eating canary birds whenever she gets the chance were not enough, the doctors have just discovered that for years she has been responsible for the spread of diphtheria. Dr. G. J. Awburn of Manchester, England, having traced an epidemic of this disease in a suburb of that city to a pet cat belonging to one of his patients, has found, after much clever investigation, that all cats are peculiarly susceptible to diphtheritic affections of the throat. He has therefore recently been warning all families who own cats to watch them carefully and if they develop coughs to forbid their being hugged and petted. Dr. Awburn further recommends that if the cough persists and the cat begins to grow thin to have the animal destroyed at once. The only really safe way, he says, is to let the first wheeze be pussy's death warrant.—New York World.

The business man was sitting in his office thinking of starting for home when a suspicious looking person came in with a leather bag in his hand.

"If you don't give me £5," said the visitor, coming at once to the point, "I will drop this on the floor."

The business man was cool. "What is in it?" he asked.

"Dynamite," was the brief reply.

"What will it do if you drop it?"

"Blow you up!"

"Drop it!" was the instant command. "My wife told me when I left home this morning to be sure to send up a bag of flour, and I forgot it. I guess it will take just about as much dynamite as you have there to prepare me for the blowing up I'll get when she sees me!"

"I'm a married man myself," said the dynamiter and quietly slipped out.—Illustrated Bits.

Shied at the Price.

A noted painter said at the Art club in Philadelphia, apropos of picture prices:

"I am glad there are not many buyers like an old farmer in Center Bridge. A very distinguished etcher, sketching in Center Bridge, made a study of the farmer's barn. The farmer happened to appear and said he'd like to have the sketch.

"'Ef 'tain't too dear,' he added cautiously.

"'Oh,' said the etcher, who makes $12,000 a year, 'I won't charge you anything for the sketch, but'—

"His eye lighted on the pigpen.

"'But I'll tell you what. You can give me one of those nice little pink sucking pigs there.'

"'Why, man,' said the farmer with a frown, 'do ye know what them pigs is worth? They're worth a dollar apiece.'"—Exchange.

Strong on Length.

Richard Carle engaged as cook a Swedish giantess who proved unsatisfactory. On departure she asked for a written testimonial, and Dr. Carle presented her with the following:

"To whom it may concern: I have lately had in my employ Hulda Swanson, who was engaged to cook for a family of three and do such other things as would be possible when not cooking. Under this head might come a little dusting and dishwashing and answering the doorbell. Taking all these things into account, I wish to say that Hulda is absolutely the tallest cook I ever saw."—Success Magazine.

Old Enough to Be Good.

He was a liquid eyed Spaniard on tour through Italy. She was a New England maiden lady doing Florence. They met first at the pension table d'hote and next in the Ufizzi gallery.

"The madonna of which you spoke," said the liquid eyed Spaniard, "is across the hall and down to the right two doors. It hangs in gallery 3."

"According to my Baedeker," protested the New England maiden lady, "it hangs in gallery 5."

"Pardon. It is impossible," protested the Spaniard. "It stands here in my Baedeker that it is to be found in gallery 3."

"Perhaps," said the New England maiden, "your book is out of date. But it is easy to assure ourselves who is right. Let us go to gallery 3 or to gallery 5 and see."

"Madame," said the Spaniard, with some emotion, "it is not necessary to exert ourselves. This book, madame, is perfectly reliable. My grandfather himself assured me so. It is the very volume that he used when he himself toured Italy at my age."—Detroit Free Press.

A Breach of Good Form.

There is a little east end girl, still under six, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness. Likewise she has her points in respect to dead gameness. She was taken about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little miss played around in front of her aunt's place for awhile. Then her aunt let a playful young terrier into the yard, saying to the child:

"This is your little four footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled into town. The little girl was home with her mother.

She had walked right to the car for town as soon as the fox terrier pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunty's?" her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty young person.—Cincinnati Post.

"The Soul of Golf."

One who knew the soul of golf saw it and described it. It was a tricky green, with a drop of twenty feet behind it. To have overrun it would have been fatal. There was a stiff head wind. The player would not risk running up. He cut well in under the ball to get all the back spin he could. He pitched the ball well up against the wind, which caught it and, on account of the spin, threw it up and up until it soared almost over the hole, then it dropped like a shot bird about a yard from the hole, and the back spin gripped the turf and held the ball within a foot of where it fell. It was obvious to one man that it was a crude shot. It was equally obvious to another, who knew the inner secrets of the game, that it was a brilliantly conceived and beautifully executed stroke. One man saw nothing of the soul of the stroke. He got the husk and the other took the kernel.—P. B. Vaile in North American Review.

Luke Lea, the newly elected Senator from Tennessee, is not only the youngest man ever elected to the Senate of the United States, but he has been headed for the Senate ever since he was born. When he was born, his mother said her son was going to the Senate. When Luke was eight years old, he said he was going to be a Senator ,and the first time a Senator was elected from his State after he reached the required age he was chosen for the place. He is six feet four, an able lawyer, and an astute politician. Some folks think he is destined to become the leader on the Democratic side.—Washington Times.

We Sell for Less Because We Sell for Cash

We do not want you to buy from us if you feel that you can afford to pay from 50 cents to $1.50 a pair more for your shoes than we ask for the same kind of a shoe. It is nice to be liberal, and the stores who sell on credit need your money to pay for the shoes bought by the man who never pays for them. If you judge the value of a shoe by the price, you should go to some other store where they will allow you to pay $5.00 for a $3.50 shoe just to make you feel rich.

We Want the Man's Money Who Wants His Money's Worth.

Philanthropists? No. We have method in our madness, we know that the man who demands full value for his money will pay cash, and he will have cash to spend when the other fellow who buys on credit will be broke and in debt. We are in business to make money, but not at your expense. When we sell four pairs of shoes at $4.00 a pair we get $16.00 in cash, but if we sold these shoes at $5.00 a pair on credit, and one of the four men did not pay us, we would only get $15.00 for our four pairs of shoes.

We sell the $5.00 kind for $4.00 cash, the $4.00 kind for $3.50 cash, and the $3.50 kind for $3.00 cash. Don't you think it would pay you to buy for cash? Think it over. "A Dollar Saved is a Dollar Made."

COBLE & MEBANE

SPLIT LOG DRAG USED ON GREENSBORO STREETS

While the fact is not generally known the split log drag is being used quite effectively on the streets of Greensboro. Since W. L. Spoon gave a practical demonstration on Gaston street on February 18 Superintendent Cox has kept the drag busy and as a result about a dozen of the dirt streets of the city are in better condition than they have been in some time.

Yesterday afternoon President J. Van Lindley, of the Guilford County Good Roads Association, Secretary C. C. McLean, of the Chamber of Commerce, and a Telegram reporter were carried over the city by S. L. Trogdon, secretary of the Good Roads Association, in order that they might get some idea of the practical worth of the split log drag as an economical piece of machinery for keeping dirt roads in fine condition.

Gorrell street, which is usually full of holes and ruts, was as smooth as any macadam road, as was Pearson, King, Church, Frisco and several other streets. Battle Ground avenue, near the waterworks, was also in first class shape as a result of the dragging. This thoroughfare was formerly in bad shape and it was not an easy task for an automobile to go over the stretch at any rate of speed. It was stated that the work could not be done in dry weather and consequently the drag had been put aside until there was rainfall.

The fact that the roads have to be wet when the drag is used, said Mr. Trogdon, is an important item in favor of the drag as a piece of road machinery in the rural sections, for the farmers can get together while their fields are too wet to plow and soon level their roads by using the drag. By devoting a few hours to a piece of road after each rain the road will always be in fine shape.

Mr. Trogdon stated that he hoped the country people would take notice of the excellent work being done on the streets of Greensboro and be convinced of the good that would accrue if they adopted this plan of road improvement. He is at present working to perfect a strong county organization, by forming good raods clubs in each township in the county. If the people of Greensboro will take an interest in the work of road improvement and improve the streets of the city the people of the country will wake up and become more active, Mr. Trogdon declared.

SOUTHERN'S

New and Greatly Improved Service

—BETWEEN—

Greensboro and Raleigh

The Southern Railway announces that effective Sunday, January 22, new passenger train service will be inaugurated between Greensboro and Raleigh, one additional train to be operated in each direction. New train No. 108 will leave Greensboro daily at 7:30 a. m. arrive Raleigh 10:40 a. m. New train No. 131 will leave Raleigh daily at 6:50 p. m. arrive Greensboro 10:00 p. m. Both trains to make all local intermediate stops.

These new trains will carry baggage car ,two coaches and one Pullman Drawingroom Sleeping car, the sleeping car to be operated between Raleigh and Washington, being handled between Washington and Greensboro on trains No. 31 and 32. First sleeping car will leave Washington on No. 31 Jan. 21 arriving Raleigh on new train No. 108 Sunday, Jan 22nd and first car to leave Raleigh on No. 131 Sunday, Jan. 22nd arriving Washington on No. 32 Monday morning, Jan. 23rd. Effective same date Jan. 22nd train No. 111 will leave Raleigh 2:30 a. m. arrive Greensboro 6:30 a. m.

This gives four daily trains between Greensboro and Raleigh in each direction and in order to afford the traveling public every possible comfort there is either a Pullman car or Southern Railway Chair car on each o fthese four trains in both directions. It is believed that the inauguration of this through Pullman car between Raleigh and Washington will also be of considerable interest to the people of Greensboro and vicinity, as passengers for Washington can board this car at Greensboro at 10 o'clock at night arriving Washington early next morning. Spoiled the Solemnity.

Joseph H. Choate when ambassador to the court of St. James and Mark Twain were together in St. George's chapel, London, one hot day, both seemingly sobered by the solemnity of the place.

"What an awful thing it is"—Twain began in a whisper.

Mr. Choate leaned closer to catch some ponderously sad expression from the humorist.

"What an awful thing it is," Twain repeated, "to be shut up in a place where one cannot smoke."

NO TAX ON BACHELORS.

Massachusetts Legislators Refuse To Lend Hand to Spinsters.

Boston Globe.

The legislative Committee on Taxation this afternoon voted unanimously against the proposition of Mrs. Charlotte smith for the taxing of bachelors.

Mrs. Smith's proposal was that every male person above 35 who is unmarried shall pay an annual tax of $5 to his home city or town unless he proved to the assessors that he was unfit for matrimony.

Mrs. Smith further sugested that the fund so obtained should be expended "for the support of deserving spinsters who have passed, or are believed to have passed the marriageable age."

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

The Grocer's Prediction.

"I a m going to start a garden," announced Mr. Subbubs. "A few months from now I wouldn't be kicking about your prices."

"No," said the grocer, "you'll be wondering how I can afford to sell vegetables so cheap."—Kansas City Journal.

Warning to Railroad Men

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Howard Gardner.

Tip for Loafers.

A loafer lacks the proper pride when he says as an excuse for his loafing that his health is poor; a loafer should have something artistocratic, like gout, the matter with him.—Atchison Globe.

Books and Their Care.

Books on shelves may be seriously injured if packed too tightly. When quickly pulled out for use the top of the book is likely to come off. Moreover, the constant pressure, if too great, will loosen the whole back in time and the friction in putting upon and taking from the shelf mars the covers. On the other hand, a reasonable amount of lateral pressure is necessary. If placed on the shelves too loosely the leaves tend to open and admit dust, dampness and consequent mildew. In the case of heavy volumes the weight of the leaves will be found resting on the shelves if the books are placed too loosely. This is likely to make the backs concave. Badly painted shelves are another source of injury to books. Care should be taken when paint or varnish is used that the surface is perfectly smooth, hard and dry when the books are put in place and that the surface will remain so during variation of temperature or humidity.—House Beautiful.

An Anecdote of Pope.

There is an old anecdote of Alexander Pope concerning one of the old watermen who were employed for many years in rowing Pope on the Thames. Pope was in the habit of having his sedan chair lifted into the punt. If the weather was fine he let down the glasses; if cold he pulled them up. He would sometimes say to the waterman:

"John, I am going to repeat some verses. Take care to remember them the next time I go out."

When that time came Pope would say:

"John, where are the verses I told you of?"

"I have forgotten them, sir."

"John, you are a blockhead. I must write them down for you."

John said that no one thought of saying when speaking of him, "Mr. Pope," but that he was always called "Mr. Alexander."

Mr. Gnaggs—"I can never find anything about the house when I want it." Mrs. Gnaggs—"You seem to forget that you can always find fault."

A Special Medicine For Kidney Ailments.

Many elderly people have found in Foley's Kidney Remedy a quick relief and permanent benefit from kidney and bladder ailments and from annoying urinary irregularities due to advancing years. Isaac N. Regan, Farmer, Mo., says: "Foley's Kidney Remedy effected a complete cure in my case and I want others to know of it."—Howard Gardner.

Stung Again.

"I am sorry to be critical, my dear," said Mr. Lambkin, "but this pie is not the kind that mother used to make—not by a long shot."

"It's too bad, Henry," said Mrs. Lambkin, amiably. "I don't know what to do about it. Perhaps you'd better ring her up on the phone and tell her. She sent it over this afternoon."—Harper's Weekly.

HOBGOOD'S PRIMARY BILL.

tions representing both factions being present and prolonging the hearing throughout the entire afternoon. The bill received a favorable report with some modifications, the authorized bond issue for public improvements being reduced from $40,000 to $20,000 and the abutting property owners to pay only one half of cost of sidewalk paving instead of all. The assessment of property is left with the regular assessors. One side claimed the population of Hot Springs to be over one thousand and the other only three hundred people.

Resolution of Appreciation.

Among the measures ratified today was a resolution expressing appreciation of the services of David Schenck and Joseph M. Morehead in connection with the preservation of Guilford Battle Ground.

Martin's Training School Bill Passed.

Senator Martin's bill to establish a training school for teachers in Western North Carolina was taken up as special order and Senator Martin urged its passage. It provides for training young men and young women over 18 years of age to become teachers, the state to appropriate $25,000 for construction and $10,000 annually for maintenance, and the school to be located by the State Board of Education in the county making the most attractive offer. Other senators who spoke for the bill were Senators Sigmon, McLaughlin, Davis, Ivie, Hicks, Haymore and Daggett. Senator Martin amended the bill by making the completion of a two year course in a high school a requirement for entrance instead of a three-year course. Senator Sikes opposed the measure on the ground that the State should take better care of its present institutions without establishing new ones. The bill was amended to add two members of the board of directors from the Seventh and the Fifth Congressional districts, and as amended it passed second and third readings and was sent to the House, the vote by which it passed being 37 to 4.

New Bill.

Senator Boyden introduced a bill to provide engineer assistance to counties in the construction of public roads, the State to employ an expert engineer who is to give his advice and services gratis to any county in road building.

Reports From Committees.

The committee on judiciary reported unfavorably Senator Lemmond's bill to prevent monopoly and oppression by gas, electric light and power companies; also Senator Thorne's resolution to encourage the use of goods manufactured by independent concerns and discourage the use of trust-made goods; also Senator Cotten's bill to provide for the appointment of directors of the State's prison. Senator Cotten then moved to take this bill from the table and refer it to the committee on penal institutions, but his motion was tabled.

Petition For Increased Pensions.

Senator London presented a petition from the Daughters of the Confederacy signed by Mrs. John H. Anderson, of Fayetteville, asking for increased pensions for Confederate veterans and widows.

HOWARD GARDNER'S SUCCESS.

Great Popularity of Plan to Sell Medicine at Half Price and Guarantee a Cure.

Howard Gardner, the enterprising druggist rather than await the ordinary methods of introduction urged the Dr. Howard Co. to secure a quick sale for their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia by offering the regular 50 cent bottle at half price.

In addition to selling a 50c. bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for 25c Howard Gardner has so much faith in the remedy that he will refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

When your head aches, your stomach does not digest food easily and naturally when there is constipation, specks before the eyes, tired feeling, giddiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, heart burn, sour stomach, roaring or ringing in the ears, melancholy and liver troubles Dr. Howard's specific will cure you. If it does not, it will not cost you a cent.
